

ABOUT THE

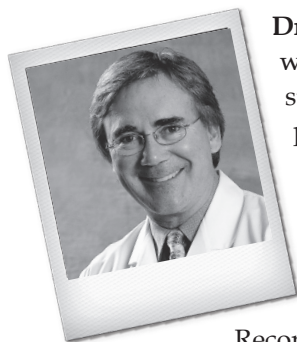

Jason Dundas is a former host of MTV Australia's TRL show, and now works as a travel presenter for Getaway on Channel 9. Jason is in his twenties and one who definitely knows how to put on the charm when it comes to the female sex. He has met as well as interviewed many female artists and there is no one more suitable to answer these questions than him.

Jason has been voted CLEO's Bachelor of the Year.

Tom Gross has been a psychologist for 25 years. He has spent time in Japan studying Oki Yoga, and in the US, training in the Feldenkrais Method. These days his work as a psychotherapist is much more analytically oriented and he is primarily interested in the understanding of meaning in people's actions, troubling or perplexing behaviours.

Dr Darryl Hodgkinson is recognised world wide as an expert in cosmetic plastic surgery with more than thirty years experience in both cosmetic and plastic/reconstructive surgery. Dr. Hodgkinson is amongst an elite group of surgeons to hold two degrees in plastic surgery from the Royal College of Surgeons, Canada and the American Board of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons.

CONTRIBUTORS

Nathan Sapsford, aka Natron, was an MTV VJ and host of MTV's TRL. He is currently working as a music-show presenter for Video Hits on Channel 10. He is single, lives at the beach, and enjoys the company of all women, especially ones with cool accents and expiring visas.

Dr Timothy J Sharp, aka 'Dr Happy', is a highly regarded clinical and coaching psychologist and the director and founder of the Happiness Institute (www.thehappinessinstitute.com). Dr Happy has more than a decade's experience in clinical psychology and has completed three degrees in psychology, including a masters and a PhD. He is the author of the best-selling book The Good Sleep Guide, the Happiness Handbook, and also a highly regarded corporate and public speaker.

Ryan Stokes lives in Sydney. In his early thirties and the heir to his father's multimedia empire, his interests lie in all aspects of the business; however, it is his current role as Executive Director of Pacific Publications that has distinguished him as a successful businessman in his own right.